In 2025, Uzbekistan declared the Year of Environmental Protection and the Green Economy, reinforcing its commitment to low-carbon and sustainable development.

The green transition is now a strategic national priority, requiring systemic support for business, public sector, and civil society.

To accelerate this process, GSBE established the Project Office for the Promotion and Implementation of Green Economy as a dedicated platform for policy support, capacity building, and innovation deployment.

The Project Office operates in line with global best practices and Uzbekistan's national strategies, including the Strategy for the Transition to a Green Economy (2019–2030).

2. Deliver training programs to develop human capital for the green transition.
3. Strengthen international cooperation with global organizations and academic institutions.
